

Vacancy: Technical Project Advisor

A vacancy has arisen for a graduate mechanical or electrical engineer to provide technical support to core activities at TV Energy. The successful candidate will be expected to take the technical lead on matters relating to the uptake of renewable energy technologies within the portfolio of regional and the occasional overseas project, liaising with colleagues, partners and other organisations as required.

Previous experience gained within the renewable energy sector would be considered a distinct advantage but is not essential. The position is based in Newbury but will involve occasional travel to sites within the region, therefore a driving licence is essential.

The remuneration package is c. £25–35,000 p.a. depending on experience and qualifications.

Please email a copy of your CV and a covering letter setting out why you would like to work with the TV Energy team to:-
